PROGRAM EXPERIENCE

The Saint Michael's College Master of Arts in Teaching program (MAT) provides an innovative and intensive experience that attracts bright and passionate candidates from diverse backgrounds to be agents of change in the field of education. The MAT is an accelerated one-year, full-time or two-year, part-time program that is competitively-priced and leads to a master's degree and initial licensure or an additional endorsement.

Program Features

- Multiple field placements with expert Vermont teachers
- Diverse opportunities to explore the progressive educational practices for which the state is known
- A rigorous and comprehensive course sequence
- Collaborative cohort model culminating in a transformative capstone experience

The MAT is designed as a fifth-year initial licensure option for undergraduates as well as a stand-alone licensure/endorsement and master's degree program for those seeking a career change or additional endorsement. It is open to those with and without prior coursework in education.

The MAT offers licensure tracks in art, elementary (grades K-6), middle (grades 5-9), secondary (grades 7-12), and special education (K-8, grade 7-age 21, or K-age 21) with the option of pursuing additional endorsements in multilingual learners (ML), early childhood education (age 3-grade 3), and special education. PRACTICUM

Practicum provides special education and ELL candidates who are pursuing an additional endorsement and a master's degree the opportunity to design, implement, and evaluate instruction under the supervision of a licensed teacher. Candidates who are working teachers are able to complete a job-embedded practicum. Along with working in the schools, endorsement candidates take additional coursework intended to deepen their knowledge base and strengthen their skills. The classes explore theoretical frameworks and methods and provide the opportunity to examine issues raised through the practicum experience. As a community of learners, candidates and their instructors address the themes of creativity, curiosity, contemplation, collaboration, reflection, and equity through topics such as antiracist teaching, trauma-informed practice, classroom culture, standards-based lesson and unit planning, instructional strategies, and assessment. Candidates develop skills together to reflect on their teaching and design their professional development trajectory.

A TRANSFORMATIVE CAPSTONE EXPERIENCE

GED 691: Personalized Inquiry: Finding Your Why (2 credits) – This mission-driven seminar will run concurrently with the Special Education Seminar and conclude with a week-long immersion in a personalized inquiry project. Using research as well as interviews and observations with teacher-leaders and educational change agents, students will investigate an area of burgeoning passion that will provide a foundation for their professional vision. The course will emphasize professional learning, ethical practice, leadership, and collaboration, as students dig deeply into a question or topic that sparked their interest during their practicum. This intensive seminar will culminate in a “Finding Your Why” Summit where students will share their findings in a variety of formats including TED Talks, digital storytelling, visual arts, multimedia exhibits, and creative writing.

The MAT offers licensure tracks in art, elementary, middle, secondary, or special education and additional education endorsements in early childhood education, multilingual learners (ML), and special education.

Whichever you choose, you'll have a breadth of opportunities, materials, experiences and professional mentoring that places our education program with the most highly regarded in the region among professional educators.
